Serving Military Veterans • Law Enforcement • Firefighters • EMS Professionals

Dear Friend of Old Glory,

Every day, Military Veterans, Law Enforcement, Firefighters, and EMS Professionals dedicate themselves to serving and protecting others. At Old Glory Service Dogs 4 Veterans, Inc., we believe that when they need support, there should be a community ready to stand beside them.

Old Glory is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization providing service dog training, education, wellness resources, and a supportive community for the individuals and service dog teams we serve. Our programs are built not only around developing properly trained service dogs, but also around helping our members build confidence, independence, and meaningful connections.

As a volunteer-powered organization, we depend on the generosity of donors, businesses, sponsors, and community partners to continue this work.

Your support helps provide service dog training and equipment, veterinary and wellness care, mental health education, program resources, and assistance for members and their service dogs when unexpected needs arise. Every contribution - regardless of size - helps us continue providing these resources to the people and dogs who depend on our programs.

Enclosed, you will find The Old Glory Story, which shares how our organization began, why the “4” in our name is so important, and what makes the Old Glory mission about much more than service dog training.

We invite you to become part of that story.

Whether through a financial contribution, sponsorship, in-kind donation, or community partnership, your support helps ensure that Old Glory can continue standing beside those who have spent their lives serving others.

Thank you for taking the time to learn about Old Glory Service Dogs 4 Veterans, Inc. and for considering an investment in our mission. Together, we can help build stronger service dog teams, greater independence, and a community where no member has to face their journey alone.

With sincere appreciation,

THE OLD GLORY STORY

More Than Service Dog Training

Old Glory Service Dogs 4 Veterans, Inc. began with a simple belief: the people who dedicate their lives to serving and protecting others deserve a community equally committed to standing beside them.

Founded in 2021 by President and CEO Lauren Driscoll, Old Glory grew from a vision of creating something more than a traditional service dog training program. Lauren envisioned an organization built around strong training standards, mental health and wellness, personal growth, and - most importantly - a genuine sense of community.

Even our name tells part of our story. The "4" in Old Glory Service Dogs 4 Veterans represents the four communities we proudly serve: Military Veterans, Law Enforcement, Firefighters, and EMS Professionals.

Our mission extends to the dogs as well. Whenever possible, Old Glory works with shelters and rescue organizations to give dogs another opportunity while helping members develop properly trained service dog teams through structured training, commitment, and partnership.

But Old Glory has never been just about training dogs.

We recognize that a successful service dog team requires supporting the person as well as the dog. Along with structured service dog training, our members receive mental health education, opportunities for connection and community, and wellness support for their service dogs. Our goal is not simply to graduate a dog from a program - it is to help our members gain confidence, independence, and a community where they know they belong.

Old Glory is powered by volunteers who receive no salary for their service to the organization. Donor support can therefore be directed toward fulfilling our mission and providing the resources our members and service dog teams need. Contributions help provide training and equipment, veterinary and wellness care, mental health education, program operations, and assistance to members and their dogs when difficult circumstances arise.

When someone supports Old Glory, they are doing much more than helping train a service dog. They are helping build a team, restore independence, strengthen a family, and stand behind someone who spent part of their life serving others.

What began in 2021 as one person's vision has grown into a community of members, service dogs, volunteers, trainers, donors, sponsors, and community partners working toward a common purpose.

There are more members to support. More dogs to train. More lives to impact.

And many more chapters of the Old Glory story still to be written.

IN THIS FAMILY, NO ONE FIGHTS ALONE.

EVERY TEAM HAS A STORY

Real People. Real Service Dogs. Meaningful Change.

The stories below are adapted from member features published in the Old Glory Gazette.

Bruce & Jób

A renewed purpose through service

Bruce Miller, an Army veteran, found more than service dog training through Old Glory. His journey with Jób reflects determination, connection, and the value of having people who understand.

Bruce has continued giving back by mentoring others and sharing his experiences as a speaker and teacher. His story reminds us that a service dog team can also strengthen an entire community.

“Even with strong faith, I needed a boost — more support.”

Ophelia & Ducati

Companionship, calm, and belonging

After years of military service and personal challenges, Navy veteran Ophelia Standard found steadiness and connection with her service dogs. Ducati helps her stay calm and grounded, especially around other people.

Ophelia describes Old Glory as a community whose volunteers take time to help members individually. Her story shows how support, patience, and a service dog partnership can help someone feel less alone.

“They’re my life.”
